

| Love and Battles 2Barbara's Story / Camilo's Story                                                                                                                                                                                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Opening                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Ace Trainer Barbara was admired and popular. Nate had summoned up his courage and professed his love to her. But Barbara calmly sent out her Pokémon and started a battle... Almost as if she was testing Nate... | Ace Trainer Camilo was admired and popular. Rosa had summoned up her courage and professed her love to him. But Camilo calmly sent out his Pokémon and started a battle... Almost as if he was testing Rosa... |
| Barbara / Camilo: So you call me to a place like this, just to ask me to go out with you?                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Nate / Rosa: Um, I... From the first time I saw you, I couldn't think about anything else! I love you!                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Barbara: Me and you? You're kidding, right?                                                                                                                                                                                                          | Camilo: Me and you? That joke's not very funny.                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Nate / Rosa: I'm serious. I won't leave until I get an answer!                                                                                                                                                                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Barbara: Hm... (...Oh, what a precocious little boy. Makes me want to be a little mean to him...)                                                                                                                                                    | Camilo: Hm... (...Oh, what a precocious little princess. Makes me want to be a little mean to her...)                                                                                                                                             |
| Barbara / Camilo: How about this, then? Want to have a Pokémon battle to test how compatible we are?                                                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Nate / Rosa: Y-yes! I'll battle you!                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Barbara: Hm... That's good! (...Heh heh heh... I can't wait... I love seeing depressed men so much I can barely stand it...)                                                                                                                         | Camilo: Hm... That's good! (...Heh heh heh... I can't wait... Seeing a girl fighting to hold back tears is always moving...)                                                                                                                      |
| Smeargle: Argle! Arrrrg!                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Barbara: OK! Here I come! (...Smeargle's raring to go, too!...)                                                                                                                                                                                      | Camilo: OK! Here I come! (...Smeargle's raring to go, too!...)                                                                                                                                                                                    |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| (...The boys who've professed their love to me so far... Every single one was brought down, and their pride was shattered...)(...I wonder how much this little boy can stand...)                     | (...The girls who've professed their love to me so far... I've made as many cry as there are stars. And yet I still haven't found her... My sweetie...)                                         |
| Nate: B-Barbara! Before we start, I have a request! If I win...                                                                                                                                   | Rosa: C-Camilo! Before we start, I have a request! If I win...                                                                                                                           |
| Barbara / Camilo: If you win?                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Nate: Marry me!Barbara: Wh-whaaaaat?! Marriage? When you say marriage, do you mean THAT marriage? Who would make a promise like that... That's no good! I mean it's seriously bad! | Rosa: Marry me!Camilo: Whaaaaat?! Marriage? When you say marriage, do you mean THAT marriage? You need to think more of yourself... That's no good! That's seriously bad! |
| Nate: Let's go on a date!Barbara: What are you saying all of a sudden?! A date with me? Get a life!                                                                                | Rosa: Let's go on a date!Camilo: What are you saying all of a sudden?! A date with me? Come back yesterday!                                                               |
| Scene 1 Begins                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Nate / Rosa: No, no way...                                                                                                                                                                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Barbara / Camilo: Hm... (...Well now, prepare yourself! You're going to feel even worse...)(...You'll regret having professed your love to me...)                                             |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Scene 1 Ends                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Nate: B-Barbara... You're so cool...                                                                                                                                                              | Rosa: C-Camilo... You're so cool...                                                                                                                                                      |
| Barbara / Camilo: What?                                                                                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Nate / Rosa: When you don't like what you hear, you express your opinion directly! Thinking of me like that... You are a wonderful person!                                                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Barbara: Ah, I see... (...What is going on? He's really tough! No more Ms. Nice Girl...)                                                                                                          | Camilo: Ah, I see... (...You've GOT to be kidding... She is really tough! No more Mr. Nice Guy...)                                                                                       |

|                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                               |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Barbara / Camilo: Give it a rest! I don't care about you at all, all right?!                                                               |                                                                                                               |
| Nate: So great!                                                                                                                            | Rosa: So manly...                                                                                      |
| Barbara / Camilo: Aaahhh! C'mon! Do you have wax in your ears?! If I can't make you understand with words, I guess I'll have to use force! |                                                                                                               |
| Nate / Rosa: Please do!                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                               |
| Smeargle: Smearrrrrg!                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                               |
| Nate / Rosa: I-I'm scared!                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                               |
| Smeargle: Smearrrg?                                                                                                                        |                                                                                                               |
| Scene 2 Begins                                                                                                                             |                                                                                                               |
| Barbara: That gets me off my game...                                                                                                       | Camilo: Gets me off my game...                                                                         |
| Scene 3 Begins                                                                                                                             |                                                                                                               |
| Nate: Barbara, your Pokémon is really aggressive!                                                                                          | Rosa: Camilo, your Pokémon is really aggressive!                                                       |
| Barbara: Oh, come now. Are you afraid of my little Smeargle? You'll never be worthy of being my man.                                       | Camilo: Oh come now. Are you afraid of my little Smeargle? A girl like that could never be my sweetie! |
| Scene 4 Begins                                                                                                                             |                                                                                                               |
| Nate / Rosa: Please come at me with everything you've got!                                                                                 |                                                                                                               |
| Nate / Rosa's Kecleon Uses Attract                                                                                                         |                                                                                                               |
| Barbara / Camilo: What was that now?                                                                                                       |                                                                                                               |
| Nate / Rosa: Um... Er... It was...Attract...                                                                                               |                                                                                                               |
| Barbara: Ha ha... You thought you could change my mind with Attract? What a fool...                                                        | Camilo: Ha ha... You thought you could change my mind with Attract? That's unexpected...               |
| Nate / Rosa: I'm... I'm sorry...                                                                                                           |                                                                                                               |
| Barbara / Camilo: ...                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                               |
| Nate / Rosa: Oohhh...                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                               |

| Good Ending                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                            |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| If Nate / Rosa's Kecleon was Knocked Out                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Nate: Noooo! I lost! Barbara, you're so strong! I didn't stand a chance!                                                                                                        | Rosa: Noooo! I lost! Camilo, you're so strong! I didn't stand a chance!                                                                                             |
| Barbara: What? Are you flattering me? That won't get you anywhere with me at all!                                                                                               | Camilo: What? Are you kissing up to me? That won't get you anywhere with me at all!                                                                                 |
| Barbara: ... ( ...That's strange... Why don't I feel any malice...)(...He took all of my Pokémon's attacks... What a big-hearted guy...)                                    | Camilo: ... ( ...That's strange... Why don't I feel any malice?...)(...She took all of my Pokémon's attacks... What a big-hearted girl...)                      |
| Nate: Heh heh!                                                                                                                                                                  | Rosa: Hee hee!                                                                                                                                                      |
| Barbara: ... (...Sigh... No matter how terrible a thing I say, he keeps smiling that smile...)(...Huh? Did I start to feel something for him at some point?...)             | Camilo: ... (...Sigh... No matter how terrible a thing I say, she keeps smiling that smile...)(...Huh? Did I start to feel something for her at some point?...) |
| Nate: Barbara, is something wrong?                                                                                                                                              | Rosa: Camilo, is something wrong?                                                                                                                                   |
| Barbara / Camilo: If you want to be friends, I'll hang out with you!                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Barbara: Hm... (...What is this? It's weird. A guy who makes me feel good just by being around me. I've never felt this before...)                                              | Camilo: Hm... (...What is this? It's weird. A girl who makes me feel good just by being around me. My sweetie?!...)                                                 |
| Just as battles aren't won by power alone, the strongest person doesn't always win in relationships either. Turning the other cheek!That's another form love takes! |                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Bad Ending                                                                                                                                                                             |                                                                                                                                                                            |
| If Nate / Rosa Said "Please do!" and Didn't Knock Out Barbara / Camilo's Smeargle                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Nate / Rosa: Huff, puff...                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Barbara: Hm. What do you want? Are you winded already? Another                                                                                                                  | Camilo: Hm. What do you want? Are you winded already? I was thinking maybe                                                                                          |

|                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                                                                         |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| disappointment... Where are the men worthy of me?                                                                                       | if it was you, but you're just like the others. You're not the sweet honey I'm looking for...                                           |
| Nate: Barbara... No...                                                                                                           | Rosa: Camilo... No...                                                                                                            |
| Barbara: I'm sorry, but I'm just not interested in ordinary guys like you... I don't think we'll meet again. Let's go, Smeargle! | Camilo: I'm sorry, but I'm just not interested in ordinary girls like you... I don't think we'll meet again. Let's go, Smeargle! |
| Smeargle: Arg! Smearg!                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                         |
| Just as the results of battle don't follow a set pattern, relationships between people don't always go how you would expect.            |                                                                                                                                         |
| Sometimes you must endure a painful parting because you care!That's another form love takes!                                        |                                                                                                                                         |
| If Nate / Rosa Said "I-I'm scared!" and Didn't Knock Out Barbara / Camilo's Smeargle                                             |                                                                                                                                         |
| Barbara / Camilo: What is it about you? I can't figure you out...                                                                |                                                                                                                                         |
| Nate / Rosa: Hee hee.                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                         |
| Barbara: Just getting involved won't work. The only thing to do with guys like you is leave...                                   | Camilo: Just getting involved won't work. Trying to interact with you wears me out... Guess I'll just leave you alone...         |
| Nate / Rosa: Hey! No way! Pay attention to me!                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                         |
| Smeargle: Smearrrrgle!                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                         |
| Nate / Rosa: I won't give up! I'll get you to turn my way!                                                                       |                                                                                                                                         |
| Just as the results of battle don't follow a set pattern, relationships between people don't always go how you would expect.            | Just as the results of battle don't follow a set pattern, relationships between people don't always go how you would expect.            |
| Not giving up on love, even if they won't look your way...That's another form love takes!                                           | Even if they won't look your way, don't give up on love!That's another form love takes!                                             |
| Strange Ending                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                         |
| If Barbara / Camilo's Smeargle was Knocked Out                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                         |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Smeargle: Arg... Argle argle...                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Barbara: Tsk. What? You're terrible! Beating up my little Smeargle like that! Seriously! I can't believe you! I'm sorry. I never want to see you again. You are so rude!                                         | Camilo: Tsk. What? You're terrible! Beating up my little Smeargle like that! Seriously! I can't believe you! I'm sorry. I never want to see you again. You're...no good... |
| Nate: Rude? I'm a terrible guy? Barbara, you're so tough! Eh heh heh... Eh heh heh heh... That's what's great about you!                                                                                         | Rosa: No good... I'm a terrible girl... Camilo, you're so tough! Eh heh heh... Eh heh heh heh... That's what's great about you!                                            |
| Just as crazy things happen in the world of battling, you never know what is going to happen in relationships. Some people take painful and cruel treatment with joy!That's another form love takes! |                                                                                                                                                                                   |